Great Product, Great Commissions

The VoX Agent program allows individuals and small businesses to sell a world-class VoIP service that is unparalleled in comparison to other VoIP providers. The tremendous sales opportunities will provide you with a winning product that will diversify your portfolio while profiting from competitive commissions.

The VoX Difference

VoX offers private branded or co-branded solutions that provide the flexibility and control needed to deliver VoIP services. We enable our agents to better compete by offering IP-based phone services that provide more for less. Our pricing includes advanced features that typically cost extra with traditional phone service.

VoX's nationwide network provides unsurpassed cost advantages and performance. Both residential and small-to-medium sized businesses will enjoy a no-hassle VoIP solution by using our service. The proprietary SIP-based architecture is uniquely designed to be ultra efficient, with no single point of failure. Our easy-to-use back office systems provide order flow management for efficient provisioning, billing, and support services. VoX's user interface is effective and easy to use. In addition, we offer aggressive rates on International calling.
